

WIRED

CITY 2015

at ROPPONGI ACADEMY HILLS

10.13 — Tue
2015
13:00-19:30

TOKYO 2020 AND BEYOND

#wiredcon

2020からはじまる東京

過去に、未来に、世界に目を向け、
東京の「いま」と「これから」を考える
1dayカンファレンス。

Environment and economy, the dynamic changes in the population, and changes in the values for life styles and working styles. If Kaware era, should come also changes the definition of urban development sought. With Toyokawa Toki 赫 architectural historian, studied Japan's first urban planner Asada Takashi of vision was a central figure of the 1960s architectural movement "Metabolism", architect Yoshimura YasushiTakashi, Mori Building Tsunoda Tomo 哉, Tokyo R Real Estate Hayashi through three discussion to consider the future of Tokyo by the thickness, we will think of the way of urban development that are required now. And from abroad, Columbia Graduate School of Architecture Faculty of Carla Maria Rothstein came to Japan of "DeathLab". Some of the urban life, or be able to regain how the "death" democratically. Desurabo draws I talk about the "city initiative to co-exist with the dead."

" vision of Asada Takashi "

Toyokawa Toki 赫 (architectural historian)

" Tokyo do " develop "the fact that "

Yoshimura YasushiTakashi (architect) + Tsunoda Tomo 哉 (Mori Building) + Hayashi thickness (Tokyo R Real Estate)

" In order to co-exist with the dead. "

Carla-Maria-Rothstein (Columbia University Desurabo)

SPEAKERS

KARLA MARIA ROTHSTEIN

SAIKAKU TOYOKAWA

